NOVA SCOTIA PROVINCIAL LIBRARY COLLECTION OF TALKING BOOKS ON COMPACT CASSETTE

This catalogue is a list of talking books, audiobooks and descriptive videos purchased by the Nova Scotia Provincial Library for users of public libraries.

Talking books are exclusively for the use of persons who are unable to read conventional print because of blindness, visual or physical handicap, or reading disability resulting from organic dysfunction.

Nova Scotia Provincial Library's purchasing agreement with suppliers requires that an eligibility form be completed for each individual using talking books. This must include certification by a professional authority (a doctor, nurse, social worker, clergyman, or other competent authority who has a professional knowledge of the nature and probable duration of the handicap). In the case of a reading disability from organic dysfunction, the competent authority is defined as doctors of medicine who may consult with colleagues in associated disciplines.

Applications for this service are included at the back of this catalogue or are available at any public library or bookmobile in Nova Scotia.

Talking books are protected by copyright and MAY NOT BE DUPLICATED OR BROADCAST.

Audiobooks and descriptive videos are NOT restricted to persons with a print handicap and may therefore be enjoyed by anyone.

Some other organizations that provide services to people with a print-handicap are:

Ferguson Library for Print Handicapped Students at Saint Mary's University

This library provides resources and services for post-secondary students and professionals who cannot read conventional text due to a disability. We lend books on audio tape and computer disk. A volunteer reading program records requested books to audio tape.

Individuals who wish to use the collection or who would like to volunteer as readers may contact the Ferguson Library at 420-5553.

Any library user who needs additional special assistance because of a disability may contact the Coordinator of Special Services at 420-5507 or 420-5144 (TDD).

The library provides audio tapes and computer disks of books and other printed materials. It also offers other assistance to print-handicapped individuals. Books which are not available elsewhere can be read onto audio tape by a dedicated group of volunteer readers.

A Kurzweil text scanning machine is available to convert print materials to audio or ASCII computer text. A large print and voice synthesizer computer terminal is available for using library catalogues and other research tools.

CNIB

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind serves persons who are unable to read print due to a visual disability. Books, magazines, and other materials in braille and on audiocassette are circulated by mail, free of charge, from the CNIB National Library in Toronto.

Users may register for this service at any of the following locations:

Halifax - 6136 Almon St., P.O. Box 8180, B3K 5L9, Phone: 453-1480

Sydney - 189 Townsend St., P.O. Box 346, B1P 6H2, Phone: 564-5711

Truro - 35 Commercial St., Suite 316, B2N 3H8, Phone: 893-9546

Yarmouth - 36 John St., P.O. Box 494, B5A 4B4, Phone: 742-2046

NATIONAL BROADCAST READING SERVICE

NBRS is a non-profit charitable organization established in 1989 to make information more accessible to people with impaired vision and for seniors.

Services offered by NBRS are:

VoicePrint

VoicePrint is Canada's first national broadcast reading service and is carried by Canadian cable television companies. The channels vary from region to region, so you are advised to check with your local cable company on how to find it. VoicePrint can also be received (via subcarrier 7.425/transponder 8B or 16/on Anik E2) by rural listeners who have satellite dishes.

VoicePrint broadcasts 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Along with readings from daily newspapers, listeners can also hear articles from more than 100 magazines and publications from across Canada and around the world.

AUDIOVISION CANADA

Audiovision is Canada's first video description service which creates a concise narrative description of the visual action of a film so that it complements the dialogue, sound effects and music.

Described movies on video cassette can be played on any VCR and enable someone with low vision to enjoy films with family or friends who are fully sighted.

Described movies on audiocassette (Audiocinema) can be played on any audio cassette player; eg. Walkman or car stereo. They appeal to everyone because of their listen-anywhere convenience, and because of the uniquely engaging entertainment they provide.

John Milton Society for the Blind in Canada

Canadians who are blind or visually impaired may subscribe to or borrow resources. All publications are mailed free of charge. The Society produces and circulates Christian materials including:

Insight - a large print church magazine of inspirational and topical articles.

Insound - a quarterly themed cassette tape focusing on current Christian issues, music and interviews.

In Touch - a braille devotional magazine of stories, humour, hymns, prayers, meditations and current library issues. Library-In-Sound - a wide variety of tapes, including music, meditations, sermons, seminars and childrens' stories may be borrowed. Individuals may request a catalogue of titles for selection purposes.
